A Note from President Diego Briceno

For over a century, SAGA's shows have brought us together around prints. This year we celebrate our 89th Annual Members Exhibition at the Arts Center at Governor's Island [where the show originated].

In recent years we've re-envisioned our center of operations as a gallery and space for embodying and amplifying our mission. Just since last year, 51 new members have joined SAGA, a fresh addition to our well-established collective of print artists. We also have plans in the next year to work with four organizations committed to the promotion of fine art printmaking: the Birger Sandzén Memorial Gallery in Lindsborg KS, the Art Students League of New York – celebrating its 150th Anniversary; the first Brooklyn Fine Art Print Fair at Powerhouse Arts; and the Housatonic Museum of Art in Bridgeport CT. SAGA also has exhibitions planned at the Noble Maritime Collection on Staten Island in 2026, and the Atelier 17 Project, commemorating the centennial of the renowned group in 2027.

Our deepest gratitude to...SAGA's Council members and volunteers for their unconditional support, and to our distinguished sponsors for propelling and inspiring the work of our esteemed artists.

Together we honor our rich legacy and diversity, and we look forward to future accomplishments.

Welcome to the Show.
